School Requests Grant of $14,000 For Year 1938

Request for 1938 Expenditure Down $500 From Last Year; Estimate is For $19,017.

The local school board will request a grant of $14,000 from the Town of Lacombe for school purposes for the year 1938, it was decided at a meeting of the School Board held on Monday night. The estimated expenditure for the year was set at $19,017 and the difference between the Town's grant and the expenditure will be made up from Provincial Government grants, students' fees, leases and other sundry items. Last year the grant made to the school board by the Town was $14,500.

M. G. Cruickshanks reported to the board of a recent meeting of the Sports Committee of the Red Deer Inspectorate, at which it was decided to hold a Sports Day in Lacombe on Saturday, May 28. A committee consisting of J. S. McCormick, John Gilmour and M. G. Cruickshank was appointed to look after the Sports.

The question of the local school cadet corps was left over until the beginning of the new term in September, at which time the future of the cadet corps will be decided. Leases of school property to various interested parties were renewed.

The principal's report showed a total attendance at the school during the month of April to be 405, made up of 270 public school students, 107 high school and 28 taking commercial classes

Local M.L.A. Explains Production Tax to Blackfalds Meeting

A detailed explanation of the new Production Tax was the gist of a talk given by D. Bruce MacMillan, M.L.A., to a large gathering of Social Crediters, at the home of J. Laing, Blackfalds, and held under the auspices of the Blackfalds local. Mr. MacMillan stressed the point that it was not a new tax, but a replacement of the Municipal tax. The seven per cent is by no means a definite figure, but is used pending the gathering of the necessary statistics which will enable the Government to say what figure might be necessary to cover present Municipal, School and Social Service taxes, plus enough to cover crop insurance; it may cover losses incurred by hail, storms, frost or insects. The speaker pointed out that if the farmers did not want to carry the insurance scheme the taxes would be considerably less. His explanation appeared to be well received and Mr. MacMillan also dealt with other legislation which was passed at the las tsession.

T. F. Roberts, president of the Lacombe Constituency Social Credit Group, chided the Blackfalds local for allowing their membership to fall down, and pointed out that two of the groups, i.e., Turville and Lockhart, had considerably increased their membership over last year. He also emphasized that members should demand results. Mr. MacMillan announced that it is the intention of holding a meeting in Lacombe the latter part of May, at which the Hon. Solon Low and the Hon. E. C. Manning are expected to be speakers.

TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

The 119th anniversary of the Independent Order of Oddfellows will be celebrated by Lacombe Magnet Lodge No. 12 next Sunday, May 8, when the members will congregate at the I.O.O.F. Hall and march in a body to St. Andrew's United Church, to attend a special service at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, which will be conducted by Rev. A. L. Carr. After the service the members will return to the lodge room, where a social time will be spent. All members are requested to turn out, and any visitors will be cordially welcomed.

Dr. Hollingsworth Guest Speaker at Sixteenth Church Anniversary

Over One Hundred Turn Out at Banquet Held Monday Night in Church Hall; "Seconding the Motion" Subject of Talk

"Humanity loses out and falls just short of reaching its objective so frequently because there are not enough men who will 'second the motion,'" said Rev. Dr. Hollingsworth of Calgary on Monday night in a remarkable address on the occasion of the celebration of the 16th anniversary of the institution of the church in Lacombe. Approximately one hundred persons were seated for the anniversary banquet in the Church Hall, which was followed by an enjoyable musical program. T. Wilks, with Mrs. R. Warren presiding at the piano, led some lively community singing, and several trio numbers, "Alice Blue Gown," "Bells of Youth," "Nursery Rhymes" and "Carmina," were sung by Mrs. T. Wilks, Mrs. R. Warren and Miss Brenna Reed, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. F. H. Reed; Mrs. John MacDonald sang "Arise O Sun," and a duet was given by Miss Margaret Watt and Miss Bette Wilks entitled "Sympathy." A humorous reading, "The Stove Pipe Hole (by Drummond) was given by Mrs. H. E. Wilson. Rev. A. L. Carr officiated as chairman.

Speaking on the topic, "Seconding the Motion," Rev. Dr. Hollingsworth, who was pastor of the Methodist Church in Lacombe about 17 years ago, and who was given a hearty welcome on this visit, likened Life to a series of great family meetings, which must be attended by every individual desiring to live a sane sensible life. Motions are continually being moved in this world and each person appealed to for his opinion and judgment.

In these days many are infatuated with new ideas or intoxicated with new conceptions of citizenship, nationalism and world power. It is impossible to even guess what conditions will be in the next fifty years—whether we are going in the direction of Fascism, Communism or into realms of new forms of government. Many are crying for more efficient governments, but the speaker warned against falling too easily for so-called efficiency, lest it cost the freedom which the centuries have built up. With all its inefficiency and meanderings, Dr. Hollingsworth said, he still believed Democracy provided the greatest freedom and the finest form of government.

When appeals are made for support and votes, the individual who "seconds the motion" shares the responsibility for the things that happen, or by his inaction he shares the failure. Like the little boy who told the parrot what words not to say, many people keep talking of the things they don't want instead of the things which are constructive.

This is a period of great transition in the world's life, and if there are enough people to think clearly and bravely, a richer freedom and a finer manhood than the world has ever seen can be given to the next generation.

Dr. Hollingsworth also gave sermons to large congregations in St. Andrew's Church for both the morning and evening services on Sunday. On each occasion the Senior Choir sang several anthems, which added to the enjoyment of the services.

FLYERS WIN SECOND

Town Flyers raced to their second win in the Commercial Softball League last Thursday night when they handed High School Cards a 14-9 setback. The town squad came from behind in the first of the fifth, capitalizing on four Cardinal errors for the winning margin.

Unable as yet to make a winning start this year, Cardinals have dominated the softball campaigns since the league was inaugurated four years ago. Their record shows two seasons of undefeated league play.

The final test for the Flyers will come in their next game with the Town Aces tonight (Thursday). If they manage to get past the other town team, their current standing will have a victory over each of the three opponents in the league. However, the battle will just be started as the four teams have nine tusiles apiece in the schedule.

Lacombe Resident Observes Ninetieth Birthday Saturday

Simon Carson celebrated his 90th birthday last Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Frizzell, where he has resided for some time. A birthday cake bearing 90 candles was served when a number of his friends gathered to celebrate the occasion. Among those present were Mrs. Mary Jane Frizzell and Mrs. Barbara Rowland, both old-timers of this district.

Mr. Carson is a veteran of the American Civil War and fought under General Sheridan at the now famous battle of Chattanooga. Following the war, Mr. Carson sailed the seas for seven years. The old gent is still very active and takes a great interest in present day affairs.

Reorganization of C.A.D.P. Planned By Management

J. M. Smith of Alix Appointed To Investigate Conditions and Devise Plan for Changes

A plan for the amalgamation of the various factions within the Central Alberta Dairy Pool was unanimously endorsed at a meeting of the members of the Alix district held in Alix on Saturday night, April 30. The meeting was called by J. M. Smith, who has been appointed by the management of the Pool to investigate and devise some plan whereby the true state of the affairs of the C.A.D.P. will be presented to the members in their correct light.

The plan which was so unanimously endorsed by the members present at the meeting consists of three main clauses, enumerated below:

1. Re-organization of the Board, every member being elected by the expressed wish of their respective delegates at the coming convention.
2. The bringing back of Mr. Larsen, the former manager, to the annual meeting, and retaining of him for advice in re-organization and future policy.
3. The election of the president of the C.A.D.P. by the majority of the delegates present at each annual meeting.

Each of the above clauses were enlarged upon by Mr. Smith, and the reasons for the steps given in full. Besides being endorsed by the Alix meeting, Mr. Smith has visited many delegates, all of whom are 100 per cent behind this scheme of complete re-organization. Mr. Smith further intends to visit every delegate and hold meetings wherever desired between now and the annual meeting, when the reasons for what the picture reveals at the present time, its causes, results and remedies will be fully explained.

Red Deer Members Visit Local Modern Woodmen Meeting

A number of Red Deer visitors visited the local camp of the Modern Woodmen of America at their regular meeting held Wednesday of last week. Neighbor Charles Raymond occupied the chair as 48 enthusiastic members attended. It was decided that during May, June, July and August, the fourth Wednesday of the month would be reserved for the regular meetings, with the second Wednesday of these months taken up with social evenings, degree team practice, etc.

Initiation ceremonies, in charge of Neighbor K. Jenkins, were conducted when a class made up of two ladies and three men were received into the camp. These new candidates brought the total of new members accepted into the local camp since the beginning of the year to 13.

Local members received an invitation from the Red Deer group to attend a social evening in that town Wednesday, May 4. It was decided to hold an ice cream social at the next meeting of the camp.

The Sacrament of the Lord's supper will follow the morning service at Spring Valley next Sunday, and the afternoon service at Jones' Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Hansen, Gull Lake Couple, Observe Their Golden Wedding

Forty Neighbors and Relatives Gather in Fernie's Hall to Celebrate Occasion; Aged Pair Receive Numerous Gifts

Fernie's Hall at Aspen Beach was the scene of a delightful banquet on Tuesday night in commemoration of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Hansen, fifty years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Hansen, well-known residents of the Gull Lake District, were paid best wishes and congratulated on their anniversary by the forty relatives and neighbors at the gathering.

A short program was arranged, and E. C. Moore, a Hansen neighbor for many years, acted as chairman. Mr. Moore voiced his good wishes and congratulations on behalf of the district and the many friends assembled. C. F. Damron, R. E. Cnowen, Dr. W. A. Henry, Mrs. J. C. Carritt and Mrs. Parrell were other speakers of the night giving their best wishes and congratulations to the married couple.

A beautiful basket bouquet of yellow roses was conferred on the aged pair by five small grandchildren. The family gifts were presented by the eldest son, Ed, and consisted of a large mantle clock and a silk bedspread of a golden color. The clock is engraved with the words "To Mother and Father on their Golden Wedding Anniversary."

Both Born in Denmark

Mr. and Mrs. Hansen were both born in Denmark. In the year 1886 Mr. Hansen, at the age of 21, came to this country from New Zealand in his first visit to the North Western continent. Mrs. Hansen left her home land in the same year, and as a girl of 18 made the trip across the Atlantic ocean to the United States. They both became members of Danish organizations and today Mr. Hansen is still a member of the "Danish Brotherhood of America," while Mrs. Hansen belongs to "The Danish Sisterhood." Mrs. Hansen is at present an active supporter of the Bentley Garden Club and the Search Light Club of the Gull Lake vicinity.

The Hansens have three daughters. Mrs. Len Beddoes and Mrs. George Cabelka of the Gull Lake district, and Mrs. Sig Hjaltalin of Bellingham, Washington. There are also five sons, three residing around the lake, and Robert and Ray, both residents of Washington State. Arthur, another son, was killed in action in the Great War. There are also 33 grandchildren and one great grandchild. All of the children and the grandchildren, excepting those residing in the United States, attended the celebration.

Miss E. Mitchell Adresses Many Local Meetings

Miss E. Mitchell, W.M.S Travelling Secretary, of Toronto, was a delightful and inspirational guest speaker at several meetings the latter part of the week. Approximately 70 W.M.S. members, mothers and young children attended the Baby Band party arranged by Mrs. George Wallace, superintendent of Baby Bands, on Thursday, April 28.

"Of all people on earth," said Miss Mitchell, "God has honored mothers—and the greatest thing created is the little child."

Mrs. A. L. Carr presided and Mrs. H. L. Wilson gave a reading, "Cuddle Doon." Certificates entitling some of the older children to promotion from the Baby Band to the Mission Band were given out by Mrs. Wallace. Refreshments were served by the W.M.S. women at the close of the meeting.

Talks to Combined Groups

On the same evening, Miss Mitchell gave an informal talk to a combined gathering of the various C.G.I.T. groups, in which she gave many intimate verbal sketches of mission work which is being accomplished on both the foreign and home fields. She stressed the importance of the girls making an early choice of a worthwhile purpose in life, and of leaders living such worthy lives that the girls will wish to follow. She closed with a verse entitled "Be Something—Now."

Talking to a goodly number of Mission Band children on Friday afternoon, Miss Mitchell emphasized the idea that world-wide friendships of children brought about through their interest in missions, makes for peace.

On Friday evening, at the home of Dr. E. M. Sharpe, before a large gathering of the Evening Auxiliary, Miss Mitchell demonstrated that Christian missionary education had done more to transform both man and nation than any other enterprise.

Further Vaccinations Against Smallpox Available May 10

On Tuesday the first well-baby and pre-school child clinic was held at the local school, when several children of the first and second grades were examined by officials of the Red Deer Health Unit. Another clinic is planned for these children on Tuesday, May 10, at the same place, when further vaccination against smallpox is offered. Students of higher grades also may receive vaccination.

Only a few weeks ago, the daily papers reported outbreaks of smallpox in Southern Alberta points, cases which were said to have been introduced from Montana. These outbreaks are grim reminders that the occurrence of this disease is always a definite possibility. Smallpox is best kept in check by a policy and practice of universal vaccinations.

Smallpox is now a rare disease in Lacombe and district, and this is due to the fact that, as in all progressive communities, a high percentage of the population has been protected by vaccinations against the dread disease. The Red Deer Health Unit officials, however, wish to bring to the attention of residents of the Lacombe district that vaccination against smallpox should be repeated after five years. In a large number of cases, the children of this district were vaccinated at the beginning of the Red Deer Health Unit in 1932, and should be re-vaccinated to insure immunization against the disease. It is for this purpose that the special clinic is being held at the local school on May 10, at which time all students who need re-vaccinating may receive attention.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS MOOSE ORDER MEETING

Thompson, secretary of the Edmonton lodge and organizer for the Province, was the chief speaker of the evening. Motion pictures of the homes for children and aged people established and kept by the organization were shown. A dance followed the meeting.

Mrs. Wilson Ritson Honored by Lest-We-Forget Club

Mrs. Wilson Ritson was given a surprise party at her home on Friday evening, April 29, by members of the Lest-We-Forget Club. In recognition of her long and faithful service in the club Mrs. J. N. B. MacDonald gave her the title of Honorary Vice-President, and Mrs. A. Aldwinckle presented her with a Coronation plate and a very suitable poem composed by Mrs. Jack Ford.

Mrs. W. Crunna and Mrs. S. Edmunds, retiring secretary and treasurer, respectively, were also presented with Coronation plates and verses of poetry. Edmunds; Vice-President, Mrs. A. Aldwinckle; Secretary, Mrs. W. Anderson; Treasurer, Mrs. W. Rankin.

L. L. MALONEY PASSES AWAY IN CALGARY

Local Boxer Wins Provincial Crown at Cardston Bouts

Webb Frizzell Is Crowned Featherweight Champ; to Attend Dominion Finals

Webb Frizzell was crowned featherweight champion of Alberta when he stopped V. Meldrum of Raymond in the third round at the Provincial Amateur Boxing championships held in Cardston last Friday and Saturday. Webb outclassed his final opponent Saturday night, and scored a technical knockout when the bout only went three rounds. Later, on Friday night, the newly crowned champ won the decision over a Calgary boy, who he had on the canvas for a count of nine in the fourth round of the five-round fight. Webb is planning to take in the Dominion Amateur fight card to be held in Winnipeg on May 15 and 16.

Don Jamieson of Lacombe breezed through the semi-finals of the 70-pound class, only to drop a close decision to a Cardston boy in the finals Saturday night. The fight was close throughout, with little to choose between the two fighters.

In the 135-pound class, Lyle Frizzell, also of Lacombe, fought twice in the semi-finals on Friday night, winning both bouts handily. He received an injury to his right arm in the last bout of the first night, but insisted in fighting in the finals, dropping a close decision to Corporal Ken Harris of Medicine Hat.

All the local boys fought well in the fights, putting up good battles throughout the card. Scotty Davidson, who accompanied the boys to Cardston, acted as second and manager for the boxers.

Rallying around Webb in his endeavor to enter for a crack at the Dominion featherweight title, the Lacombe Oddfellows' Lodge is sponsoring a Frolic in the I.O.O.F. Hall next Wednesday night, May 11.

The Lacombe musicians are donating their services, with an augmented orchestra, and all lovers of clean sport are giving their services to help raise sufficient funds to send Webb down to compete. He has already won this honor once, turning the trick in 1935, and on his recent showings, should be able to land the coveted honor again. It is hoped the sports of the town and district will support Webb by turning out en masse next Wednesday night.

Two to Contest Council Seat in M.D. of Lamerton

Nominations last Saturday in Division 4 of the Municipal District of Lamerton resulted in I. V. Carter and Jack Reynolds both seeking election as councillor to represent their district. The election will be held on Saturday, May 7, with two polling stations, one at Tees at the Drake schoolhouse, and the other at the Real Estate office at Clive. Thomas Semple will act as returning officer, and his deputies are G. O. Fry at Tees and T. A. Brereton in Clive. A large vote in the election is expected.

Sixty-five Piece Orchestra to Be Heard Monday

An orchestra of 65 students of the Hopkins' School of Music, Calgary, will be heard at the Central Alberta Pavilion on Monday night, commencing at 8:30. The students, many of whom will be from the Lacombe district, have been practicing hard for this concert, and Mr. Hopkins promises a fine treat for music lovers. Immediately following the concert, a dance will be held, with an orchestra of six Calgary musicians supplying the music.

Mr. Hopkins was born in Czechoslovakia, and before coming to this country was a student of famous musicians of the Old Country. Shortly over a year ago he extended the activities of his Calgary School of Music to include many towns between Calgary and Edmonton. He has several students in Lacombe and district, all of whom will play in the mass orchestra.

The Second Basic Dividend?

REVERBERATIONS from the seven per cent production tax on all provincial farm produce continue to ripple through Alberta. The tax has been denounced by a large number of farmers throughout the Province, although the Government has emphatically stated that where the production tax and its clauses have been thoroughly explained to the various meetings held, the people have voted in favor of the imposition of the tax. That statement sounds sweet, but the tax called for is still seven per cent, no matter how the Provincial Government explains it. The fact that there are no provisions in the act for the cancellation or reduction of the present land taxes adds further to the suspicion with which the farmer views the tax.

It is, though, extremely doubtful if this act will ever be put into effect even if the Supreme Court declares its clauses constitutional. The Aberhart Government does not stand on any too firm ground with the electors of the Province at the present time, and it seems highly improbable that the Social Crediters would risk a further loss of support which would be a natural result of the imposition and enforcement of this tax.

Probing into the crystal ball, one might easily see this act shelved, with an accompanying declaration by some member of the Government that this second cancellation was, in effect, a second basic dividend issued to the people of the Province, and bearing no interest. (The first dividend, if our readers will remember, was the cancellation of the two per cent sales tax).

An Aggravating Proposal

THE proposal of the Provincial Government to re-route the Calgary-Edmonton highway is one that is drawing well deserved criticism from the towns now situated on the main road. Many towns south of Red Deer will be missed if the road routing now planned is put into effect. Delegations from the interested towns have appeared before W. A. Fallow, Minister of Public Works, asking him to reconsider the routing as now planned, as business in the various towns missed by the road will undoubtedly suffer as a result of the change.

These towns have been largely responsible for the building up and the settling of the Province. They were established long before any Calgary-Edmonton highway was dreamed of, and it seems unfair to the business men and residents of these communities to set the highway deliberately away from the towns which should be linked by the best possible roads. The highway can be straightened, widened and improved without missing all intervening towns, and it is only on this point that the delegations ask consideration.

While the highway south of Ponoka has not yet been re-routed, it seems probable that such a step will be taken in the near future, a step which might easily harm the business in Lacombe if the road is changed to miss the town. There are advantages to both sides of the question on whether or not a main highway should be run through a town, but, if the highway through Lacombe was changed, business here would undoubtedly suffer.

Lacombe is not an actively interested party as yet, but the business men of the town should watch carefully developments of the highway being built to the south, so as to be prepared to defend their interests in the future.

A Ponderous Tax Burden

THE phlegmatic Briton is once more asked to rally around his flag and dig down farther into his worn pocket to hand the Government 81.37½ out of each $5.00 he earns. The new income tax introduced in the House of Commons last week by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir John Simon, is in reality a call to arms for the people of the British Isles. The enormous expenditure for re-armament must go on, the British Government states in effect, and it can only go on through the expenditure of more and greater sums of money, money which must come from the taxpayers

Every man, woman and child with earning capacity above the immediate necessities of life will contribute to the new era of rearmament. Millions and millions of pound sterling are being poured into factories to fight the appearance of greater, more dominating and more terrifying dictatorships,' and the Briton on the street has answered nobly. He is prepared to stake his all on the survival of Britain, a true survival of the fittest, and that the British Government intends Britain to be fit is proved. What the future will bring nobody knows, but it is gratifying to the democratic peoples of the world to see that a democracy can succeed—that a country governed by the people can compete with the dictatorships where land, wealth and assets can be confiscated by a nod from the all-governing dictator.

Truly Britons feel "Who lives if England dies—who dies if England lives?"

Through the Eyes of a Country Woman

By BRIDGET

Looking around the world is a very discouraging pastime at the present time. Apparently "Right" is not proving victorious. "Might," and greed are rearing their ugly heads in many lands, conquerors for the nonce, gloating and bestial in their temporary glory. I like to think of it as temporary, being an ardent believer in fairy tales, where truth always rises triumphant and the wrong-doers are brought low. Unfortunately, life does not seem to be what the weavers of fairy-tales would have us believe; so it is with great joy that one can temporarily lose oneself in the land of "make-believe," as is possible when watching the unfolding of Walter Disney's film, "Snow White."

It was suggested to me that I pass on my impressions of this film in this column; I hesitated at first, because so much as been written, and yet it was such a beautiful experience, living with Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, and all their little animal friends, for a brief hour and a half, that I thought I would try at least to give some idea of the way this much discussed film struck me. Altogether it was too wonderful to grasp at one sitting! It is a monument to beauty; a triumph of photography, and an example of patience that can only be partially surmised by the uninitiated.

During the three years it took to "build" this work of art, its creators must have learned to love the scores of animals who run, work and play so happily and busily through the film. Every little rabbit, squirrel, deer or bird must have become very real to the artists. The expressions of delight, content, smugness, horror and love, etc., that are mirror on the countenances of the smallest animal are a sheer delight. To watch the blue-birds sing a quartet with Snow White, in which the smallest one trilled and trilled, till its very exuberance lifted it clean into the air, is something not easily forgotten.

Most fairy stores have as their moral that "crime doesn't pay," the triumph of good over evil, but in this film, the moral is not hard to take. The seven dwarfs are so lovable, just the sort of folks you can find in any community. The leader, "Doc," who hasn't met him? A dear, fussy old body, who want to do the right thing, and who is quite jealous of his dignity. The second most important dwarf, "Grumpy"—isn't there just such a perpetual grouch in most districts? "Happy," the little fat dwarf, with the jolly, round face of the born optimist. "Sleepy," the poor fellow, who is always too tired to work. "Bashful," the epitome of the tongue-tied, but well-meaning young man, who is always at a loss for words to express his emotions. "Sneezy," the poor fellow with a perpetual cold in his head. Last, but not least, comes "Dopey," the most lovable of all the dwarfs; not bright, but with very good intentions, always ready to help, but his efforts being mainly more useless than not. Just a dear, simple, lovable soul.

What a touch of insight is shown in the comedy of the good-bye kisses, bestowed on the dwarfs by Snow White. Six of the dwarfs are content to raise their hats and receive her kiss on their bald pates, but not Dopey. He runs to her, and purses up his lips like a baby for a kiss. What mother's heart will not be stirred by this small incident?

The wicked, beautiful Queen turning herself into a witch is the most gorgeous example of photgraphy yet seen on the screen. The swirl of her magnificent robes, the beautiful lips that turn into a wide, toothless cavity, emitting horrible sounds, which once seen will not be forgotten. The subtle touch of the skeleton, whose fleshless hand is lying within a few inches of a water jug, which might have meant life to it; the use of the two large vultures, which accompany the witch on her way, and circling ever around, ready to prey on her body as it fails to its doom down the cliffs.

Snow White is the embodiment of goodness, just the dream-child each mother would be pleased to call her own, so loving and forgiving, in spite of her wicked step-mother, so desirous of love, industrious, yet with it all happy and child-like. As the film progresses it is hard to realize that this dainty little figure is not a real child, but only a series of drawings. She becomes so real that it seems natural to rejoice with her in her happy moments, and to sorrow with her in her tribulations, and to shudder with horror at the gruesome death being prepared for this lovely little figure by the wicked Queen.

The grief of the dwarfs is too poignant to leave anyone unmoved. The quite tragic grief of "Doc," the unrestrained sobbing of "Grumpy" and the hopeless sorrow of "Dopey," who has to find someone's arms in which to sob out his broken heart, are beautifully depicted.

It is all so natural, and applicable to our everyday life, that when love rises triumphant after so many seemingly insurmountable difficulties, it gives one back a little ray of hope, that perhaps in time RIGHT will rise again supreme, and prove that the dreamers of dreams have some foundation for their belief in the fundamental goodness that God instilled in man when He "made him in His own likeness."

"My own impression is that Roosevelt is pressing various buttons from a to z in the telephone box of American economic life, hoping one of them will give him a clear line to Old Man Recovery, but that before the year is out he will have to resort again to the simple megaphone of large scale 'priming the pump' with Government expenditure."—Commander Stephen King-Hall.

Swans Arrive Back At Gull Lake

By VIOLA MacDONALD

"The swans are back!" That was the cry along the shores of Gull Lake last week, where residents have been watching and waiting for the return of the aristocrats of the water for two weeks. They are a bit late this year, coming on Friday night—while a year ago they were back on the fourth of April. Last year, too, they were here in greater numbers—nearly 100 in the flock. Many people are attracted to the lake shore near Brownlow's Landing, where the swans daily disport themselves in the open water between the shore and the ice-pan.

Observers are unable to ascertain the present source of food nor the exact number of leaders, but one thing is sure—there are more than one in command, the swans bunching in groups of 10 or 12. Their vocal efforts, in unison, resemble nothing more than a bunch of young puppies, according to Mrs. H. A. Brownlow, into whose kitchen, near the shore, the "swans' songs" float in from the early morning until late at night.

As far back in history as the reign of Henry VII., swans were considered royal property exclusively and theft of a swan was punishable by a year's imprisonment, while the gift of a swan to a favorite was regarded as a veritable royal favor. The average swan weighs 30 pounds, measures over five feet from wing tip to wing tip, and the female lays from 10 to 12 eggs and lives to be 100. On the northern hemisphere swans are entirely white; on the southern hemisphere they are either black or white with black markings. The bill is as great in length as the head.

The first recorded appearance of swans at Brownlow's Landing was about 15 years ago. That first year there were only six. They did not remain to hatch their young but moved northward, presumably as the lake regions opened up. The second and third years the numbers increased slightly and then there followed several years in which the swans did not show up at all.

Five years ago they made their appearance again. There were perhaps 25 or 30 in the flock that year and each spring since the numbers have increased until last year there were about 100.

Whether these are the offspring of the original six or whether a publicity campaign, extolling the beauties of Gull Lake, has been spread among the birds of the air, we do not know, but in any case we again welcome the swans to Brownlow's Landing. — Reprinted from The Edmonton Journal.

Do You Know?

a continuous resident of the Lacombe district since 1901? George was born in Prince Edward Island in 1882, one of a family of seven. He received his education there, working on his father's 175-acre farm after finishing his school. In May of 1901 his father and the family moved to Minnesota, where they stayed only three months, moving up to the Lacombe district the same year in search for land. They found it in the Iowalta district, where George's father, Samuel, homesteaded. At the same time, George purchased a quarter section of C.P.R. land in the same district, while his brothers William and Lester also acquired property in Iowalta district, with Jim, a third brother, homesteading in the Lochinvar district. The family worked hard that summer, breaking the land and clearing away the heavy brush.

George stayed on the land until 1908, at which time he moved into Lacombe, doing odd jobs around town until he went into partnership with Jim and Max, two of his brothers, in a coal and wood business which they operated until 1918, when they sold the business to Charlie Zielie. For the next few years George continued to operate his draying business in Lacombe until, in 1914, he rented a farm six miles east of town and acquired some C.P.R. land alongside it. For the next four years, Mr. Frizzell worked the farm, trading his improved C.P.R. land and farm for the present property which he now owns in town, and where he has lived since 1918.

For the next 12 years, George continued to do odd jobs around town, entering the dairy business about six years ago, a business which he still operates.

In 1910 George was married in Lacombe to Miss Armintah Armstrong, who had arrived in the district from Ottawa around 1908. They have three children, Mildred, Max and Lloyd, all at home. George's brothers, Max, Jim and Les, still live in Lacombe and are well known throughout the community.

Mrs. Samuel Frizzell, George's mother, and Mrs. Duncan Reeves, a sister, both of Lacombe, complete the family.

CREDIT
It belongs to you—the community does not own it.

BANKS live by lending.

That is their major source of income, their principal business. They are always on the lookout for good risks. They have to avoid poor ones.

Let us give an instance. Suppose, say, a man seeking a bank loan, is known to the banker as having no business capacity to carry out the purposes for which he wants the money. He is not credit-worthy—he has accumulated nothing, has no stake.

The banker, anxious though he is to make loans, knows there is not the remotest chance that this man would succeed in his purpose and tells the would-be borrower that the bank cannot take the risk.

But this man has a friend—a man who has accumulated something and has a stake. Hearing of his neighbour's difficulty, he goes to the bank and urges that the loan be made.

"Whose money would you have me lend him?" asks the manager. "You have a deposit here. Would you lend your own money?"

The bank manager, as custodian of this very man's own money, then takes pains to point out that what the substantial citizen is really expecting, is that the bank should make a loan which the citizen's own common sense and caution would compel him to refuse.

Before such a man leaves the bank he usually agrees that he had expected the bank to lend where he himself would be unwilling. Banks have no magic source of credit.

Here is the core of the whole business of a bank's extending credit. Because of the bank's responsibility to its depositors it can make loans only where repayment is reasonably certain.

To obtain a loan from a bank a borrower must have credit of his own. Seldom, if ever, is his credit spendable. You cannot spend cattle, goods in process of manufacture, uncaught fish, uncut timber, or wheat in the granary.

The bank has credit too. Millions of small depositors have, in effect, lent it their money. A percentage of this money, based on bank experience of withdrawals, is kept in cash, some more in items of a cash nature, more still in assets quickly convertible into cash, and more in safe investments such as marketable government and other bonds. Based upon this, the bank can extend credit.

Because people have confidence in bank credit, and because every promise-to-pay of a chartered bank is redeemable in cash, on demand, or on a fixed date, this form of credit is spendable.

In the case of the borrower, credit is the personal possession or attribute of the individual—you yourself, if you are the borrower — in character, goods, possessions, integrity, ability and willingness to repay.

Your credit is not social, in the sense of belonging to the community. When you have credit, it is your own just as your money in a savings account is your own. The people at large have no conceivable claim upon it.

Who monetizes credit?

The answer for all practical purposes is this: The man who owns and therefore controls his credit takes the initiative. The bank does not go to him. He goes to the bank and asks it to enable him to obtain credit in spendable form in exchange for his own unspendable credit. The bank does so; and charges him a rental in the form of interest, until he repays.

What happens when he secures this credit in spendable form?

He spends it.

He pays the wages of labour, the cost of raw materials and of manufacture; the cost of seed, of feed for hogs and cattle, or the expenses of cultivating and harvesting; of buying bait or catching fish; of cutting trees or transporting goods.

The whole banking process is made possible by the concentration and cautious handling of other people's money.

Banks simply dare not risk their own solvency and so jeopardize the safety of their depositors' funds, by making loans to people who have neither character nor credit—nor by making loans even to those who have both, without taking every reasonable precaution to ensure repayment.

PRAIRIE GRAIN, B.C. fruit, New Brunswick and Island potatoes combine with the products of Quebec and Old Ontario mixed farming to make this an important agricultural country.

CANADA is not only the second largest manufacturing country in the British Empire, but we also stand second to the United Kingdom in the variety of products.

OVER THIRTEEN PER CENT. of this net manufacturing production is supplied by the textile industry. The textiles employ a fifth of all Canadian industrial workers. And the textile annual payroll is the second largest of all manufacturing industries.

COTTON and Rayon goods are the kinds of textiles that Dominion Textile Company produces as a contribution to this important industry.

AMONG OUR PRODUCTS, are the well known Magog Fastest Fabrics, manufactured at our Print Works in the little town of Magog, Province of Quebec. The seven thousand Dominion Textile Company employees make bed sheetings, material for dresses, shirts, underwear, cord for automobile tires, and scores of other goods. They receive every year a sum of wages in excess of five million dollars.

Corinthians 6:17, "Wherefore come out from among them, and be yet separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you." One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, is: "The purpose and motive to live aright can be gained now. This point won, you have started as you should. . . . Working and praying with true motives, your Father will open the way. 'Who did hinder you, that ye should not obey the truth?'" (p. 326).

Tees Tattle Tales

By TATTLER

TEES.—The ball meeting Saturday evening was well attended by the ball players and backers. Del. Thomas was chosen to manage the team. Bill Pethybridge was elected secretary-treasurer and Tom Cunningham picked Alex. Sim and Frank Banah to work with him in the finance committee. The coffers being empty, the finance committee will have to delve into ideas to raise money before the team will get far, as new equipment is badly needed.

A letter was read to the meeting from the manager of the Sargent district, regarding the possibility of forming a league, to include Sargent, Nebraska, Satinwood and Tees. This was considered a very good idea, and outside of the distance to Satinwood no one complained, but suggested that possibly Westling could be induced to come into the league, which would leave all teams fairly close together.

The managers of the various teams expect soon to meet and draw up a schedule.

Household Shower Held

A household shower was the drawing card for people from all over the district last Friday night at the Community Hall. Many beautiful presents and good wishes were extended to our latest newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Papineau. A dance before and after the presentation was enjoyed by the younger set.

Commencing May 7 there will be dancing at the Community Hall every Saturday night. They will take the form of Cinderella dances. You must leave at midnight. The charge is reasonable and good crowds are expected.

Nomination day for councillor was held last Saturday. L. V. Carter and Jack Reynolds were chosen to run. The election will be held Saturday, May 7. This should be a good race, so everyone turn out and root.

Retires From Business

Hjalmar Johnson has retired from the trucking business and started farming. He says it is much easier.

The Nebraska Merry-Makers held their fortnightly get-together Saturday night. Quite a number of the youngsters from Tees attended and all report a good time.

A few young fellows visited a little too long Sunday night and when it came time to leave the roads were so bad that it would have been dangerous to go home, therefore we had a temporary increase in the hamlet's population.

Dick Lakeman left Thursday for a holiday in South Dakota, visiting several relatives that he has not seen for years.

The school softball team defeated a team from Mirror last Friday night by 21 to 14. They return the game next Friday afternoon.

Old-Timer Dies

Word just came through from Red Deer of the sudden passing of Mrs. Bill Weatherill, a very old-timer of the Tees district. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband; one daughter, Mrs. Lynn of Bashaw, and three sons, Gordon, Basil and Wilfred, all of the Tees district.

THEY ALSO FARM...

...WHO IN THE MACHINE SHOP WORK

Not for some time now could farming have been practised on the small scale style familiar in the world of yesteryear.

If today we had to rely on the old-time cradle methods of cutting and garnering the crop, it would take every able-bodied man in every province of our Dominion to harvest the average wheat crop of Western Canada. Thanks, however, to modern farm machinery, with practically no seasonal increase in hired labor, the farmer is able to take care of even the heaviest of harvests. The making of the machines for harvesting is but a transference of labor from the field to the factory.

Instead of the short seasonal engagement during the rush days of harvest, the implement worker is given longer periods of employment, and the days he spends in making farm equipment lessens the number of men required in the farm field. Thus, these men, during the winter months, help make short work of garnering greater crops during the few and fleeting days of harvest season, and so many of the men thus engaged have themselves come from farm homes.

It was only natural when turning their faces city-wards, that men from the farm should first seek employment with a company whose name to them had been a household word.

In Massey-Harris, whose origin ninety years ago was on a farm, these one-time farmers find a rather logical expression for their abilities in the mechanical side of farming—for while in forge or machine shop—they also farm.

Police Court

Orville Leonard Beach was handed a six-month suspended sentence and forced to put up a $500 bond on a charge of disturbing the peace when he appeared before Magistrate T. O. B. Gore-Hickman in the Lacombe court room Friday. A crowded courtroom listened to the case, which started at 10:30 a.m. and continued till 1:30 in the afternoon, with an hour and a quarter recess for lunch. Orville L. Beach faced three charges, "disturbing the peace," "unlawful assault" and "unlawfully escaping from the custody of a police officer." The last two cases were dismissed by the magistrate in view of conflicting evidence. The accused's brother, Lemual Beach, charged with "wilfully escaping from custody of a police officer," was dismissed when the prosecution did not press the charge. The defendants were assessed with the costs of the court by the magistrate.

Eight witnesses were called to the witness stand on the first two charges against Orville Beach. Much of the evidence as given was conflicting as to character, with J. L. McClure, appearing for the defendants, cross examining each witness painstakingly. J. S. McCormick appeared for the prosecution.
